Extralink Military Tactical Combat Survival Touch L Gloves - Full protection and functionality in one.

Extralink Military Combat Survival Tactical Touch L Gloves are a reliable choice for those looking for quality hand protection during intense tactical and survival activities. Combining durable materials with state-of-the-art touch functionality, these gloves offer both safety and comfort, allowing you to freely operate touchscreen devices without removing them.

Durability and protection in all conditions

The gloves are made of durable materials, such as rubber and nylon, which ensures their longevity and effective protection against mechanical injury, cold and other adverse weather conditions. Thanks to their sturdy construction, these gloves will work well both in the field and during outdoor activities.

Comfort and full freedom of movement

Designed with comfort in mind, the gloves feature elastic knuckle hems that allow fingers to flex freely. The stretchable material does not restrict movement, allowing you to perform even the smallest tasks with precision without feeling uncomfortable.

Stable fit and secure grip

Thanks to a solid Velcro closure, the gloves fit perfectly on the hand, eliminating the risk of shifting during work. The non-slip elements provide a secure grip, which is extremely important during activities requiring precision.

Touch function

These gloves allow you to use touchscreen devices without removing them. This allows you to react quickly and use technology in difficult conditions, regardless of the situation, making your operations more efficient.
