Information:

Extralink Military are tactical combat and survival gloves that combine a high level of protection with ease of use. Made from durable rubber and nylon, they are resistant to abrasion, cold, wind and chafing, making them suitable for demanding outdoor conditions. The flexible construction and knuckle stitching ensure full freedom of movement and comfort even during prolonged wear. Anti-slip elements guarantee a secure grip, while the hook-and-loop fastening provides a stable fit. In addition, they allow touchscreens to be operated without removing the gloves.

Full product description

Extralink Military Combat Survival Tactical Gloves Touch M - Functionality and protection at the highest level.

Thanks to careful workmanship and the use of durable materials, these gloves guarantee full comfort and freedom of movement, making them ideal for demanding tasks in the field. An additional advantage is the ability to operate touchscreen devices without removing the gloves, increasing their functionality.

Protection and durability

Made of high-quality materials such as rubber and nylon, the gloves provide excellent protection against injury and adverse weather conditions. They are resistant to abrasion and damage, making them an ideal choice for long and demanding survival expeditions. They protect hands from cold, wind and abrasions, ensuring safety in harsh conditions.

Comfort and full freedom of movement

The gloves are designed for maximum wearing comfort. Thanks to the elastic materials, they perfectly fit the shape of the hand, and the knuckle hems allow free flexing of the fingers, which is crucial during precision operations. Breathable material prevents excessive sweating of the hands, ensuring comfort even during prolonged use.

Stability and firm grip

Thanks to the non-slip features, the gloves provide a secure and stable grip, which is essential when working in harsh conditions. A sturdy Velcro closure ensures that the gloves stay in place, minimizing the risk of slipping during intense activities.
