Information:

Smart Life S9G is a portable triple-screen monitor that expands a laptop's workspace and makes it easier to work with multiple applications at the same time. Three screens help organise video conferences, documents, data and messaging apps conveniently, increasing comfort for work, study and multimedia. The 16-inch IPS panel with a resolution of 1920×1200 and a 16:10 aspect ratio provides more vertical space, while wide 178° viewing angles improve image clarity. The monitor has a detachable, portable design, can be set up horizontally or vertically, and the USB-C and mini HDMI ports, together with Plug & Play, make it easy to connect quickly to many devices and systems.

Convenient work with multiple windows

The three-screen configuration lets you split tasks across several work areas. On one screen you can hold a video conference, on the second analyse data, and on the third work with documents or a messenger, which helps organise work more efficiently.

Buttons and ports within easy reach

The monitor is equipped with buttons for adjusting settings and practical USB-C and mini HDMI ports. This makes connecting the device to a laptop or other equipment convenient, and brightness and menu adjustments can be made without needing additional accessories.

16:10 screen with a larger display area

The 16:10 aspect ratio offers more vertical space than the classic 16:9 format. The extra space is useful when working with spreadsheets, documents, code, admin panels and websites, where a clear view of more content matters.

A laptop screen displays a snowboarder in an orange jacket and blue pants against a snowy mountain background. The bottom of the screen is divided into two sections. The left section is labeled '16:9' and shows a smaller portion of the image. The right section is labeled '16:10' and shows a larger portion of the same image. A large red '11%' is overlaid on the right side, indicating the increase in display area.
