Niezwykły komfort i aksamitna miękkość

Seamless underwired-free nursing bra - YN21 model

The design of this seamless bra is based on a smooth fabric made using Ultra Soft technology. This material is highly elastic and breathable, which directly affects wearing comfort. The Momcozy maternity bra is completely wire-free, meaning that traditional rigid underwires have been eliminated from the design. As a result, the elastic underbust band does not put pressure on the chest and ribs while worn.

Practical bra for a breast pump and expressing milk

Laser-cut edges make the product invisible under clothing, giving a smooth feel. The internal, adjustable inserts are breathable and help maintain the proper shape and hygiene. The Momcozy YN21 nursing bra has been equipped with functional nursing clasps that can be quickly unfastened with one hand. This makes it easy to access the breast when there is a need to feed the baby after birth.

Comfort and versatility during pregnancy

The set includes additional fastening extenders, which means the bra can be used as a stable bra for a breast pump. This design stabilises the pump cups and allows milk expression without the need to constantly support the devices with your hands. The YN21 model works with various types of breast pumps available on the market. This soft seamless nursing bra is a versatile everyday wardrobe item.

Soft seamless nursing bra for everyday wear

The product is suitable for many situations – it can be used as a standard breastfeeding bra, a classic maternity bra, a soft sleep bra, as well as a light sports bra. The elastic Soft-type material allows the product to adapt to natural changes in bust circumference during lactation, preventing chafing and pressure while feeding. The fabric has an ultra-soft structure, which reduces the risk of irritation to sensitive skin, guaranteeing the proper level of fit.
