Information:

MOULD KING 10217 Catamaran Sailboat Model Building Set is an 890-piece construction set for sailing enthusiasts, collectors' models and maritime-themed décor. The bricks build an elegant white catamaran with a twin hull, sails and refined deck details, faithfully capturing the character of a leisure craft. The model stands out with its light colour scheme, sleek silhouette and interior elements such as the cockpit, red seats and cabin. It is an engaging yet accessible build, as well as an eye-catching ornament for a shelf, desk or collection, ideal for fans of boats and a holiday atmosphere.

Full product description

Catamaran from bricks

MOULD KING 10217 CATAMARAN SAILBOAT MODEL BUILDING SET is a construction set for people who like nautical themes, display models and a calm, holiday, seaside atmosphere. From the bricks, a white catamaran with sails, a twin hull and a refined shape is built, which well captures the character of a leisure vessel. The model attracts attention with its light colour scheme, sleek line and deck details, making it a striking ornament for a shelf, desk or collection once assembled.

890 building pieces

The set consists of 890 pieces, which makes the building process engaging, yet still accessible for people looking for a decorative model with a reasonable number of parts. The build includes the hulls, deck, sails, rigging elements and details visible on the outside of the catamaran. As a result, the construction is not just a simple boat shape, but a fuller sailing scene, where both the proportions of the vessel and the finish of individual sections draw attention.

Deck and interior details

The Mould King brick catamaran stands out not only for its sailboat silhouette, but also for the details visible inside. The cockpit, red seats and cabin give the model a more practical character, reminding us that the catamaran is a vessel designed for leisure on the water. Such elements mean the finished model can be viewed from different angles and reveal more details, rather than being treated solely as a decorative figure.

Model for display

Once assembled, the catamaran from bricks looks great in a setting inspired by a marina, travel and the peaceful atmosphere of sunset. The transparent sail, light hull and visible deck details give the construction a sense of lightness, while emphasising the sailing character of the model. The set will be a good choice for a brick fan, a ship enthusiast or someone looking for a model with a travel theme and leisure by the water.
