Full product description

Ghostly sailing ship with 4,364 pieces

MOULD KING 13197 The Flying Dutchman is an extensive building set that creates an impressive model of a dark sailing ship. The hull with a multi-level deck, three tall masts and stylised sails form the distinctive silhouette of a vessel inspired by maritime legends. The large number of pieces makes assembly an engaging project for fans of ships, building blocks and collectible models.

Dark styling inspired by a maritime legend

The model stands out with its brown and green colour scheme, complemented by gold details and flame-like elements. Torn sails, massive sides and irregular decorations emphasise the ghostly character of the build. The varied shapes of the individual parts help recreate the appearance of a ship marked by many sea voyages.

Extensive hull and multi-level deck

The hull construction has been enhanced with gun ports, decorative cannons, railings, stairs and numerous deck elements. The long bow with protruding details gives the vessel a dynamic profile, while the side decorations in the form of tentacles develop the ghost ship theme. The individual deck levels make it possible to view the model from many angles and discover further sections of the build.

Decorative stern with flame and tentacle motifs

The rear section of the sailing ship draws attention with its elaborate superstructure and a figure inspired by sea creatures. Transparent elements imitating flames emphasise the model's fantastical character, while balconies, railings and decorated sides add variety to the stern's shape. This combination of details makes the model look attractive from the rear as well.

Details that build the model's character

The set offers many elements to admire up close: stylised sails, cannon positions, deck equipment, side decorations and an elaborate figure on the stern. The visible ropes between the masts help recreate the rigging of the sailing ship, while small accessories complete the look of the deck. The varied construction contributes to an interesting process of assembling the ship's successive sections.

Large model designed for display

Once assembled, the sailing ship measures 84 cm in length, 31 cm in width and 58.6 cm in height. These dimensions allow both the tall masts and the extensive hull to be displayed to good effect. The included stand helps position the build on a shelf, chest of drawers, desk or in a display cabinet, while the elongated base provides proper support for the model.

A decoration for ship and modelling enthusiasts

The Flying Dutchman will work well as part of a collection of maritime models, brick-built constructions or decorations in a fantasy style. The dark colour scheme and large number of details pair well with maps, lamps, ropes and other accessories inspired by old voyages. The set can also be an interesting gift idea for an older fan of elaborate builds.
