Full product description

MOULD KING 24005 - a brick-built rose full of character

MOULD KING 24005 Rose Artificial Decor Plant Building Set lets you build an eye-catching red rose by hand, combining creative fun with a decorative function. The flower's intense colour clearly contrasts with the green stem and leaves, so the finished model draws attention both up close and from a distance. It is an interesting option for lovers of plants, decorations and brick-built constructions who want to create an ornament with a symbolic and recognisable shape.

Decoration that requires no care

Once built, the rose can become an interesting feature in a living room, bedroom, study or home workspace. The model looks great on its own, placed in a glass vase, but it can also be combined with other brick-built flowers to create your own arrangement. The rose does not need watering or access to light, so it can decorate an interior regardless of the season or the conditions in the room.

Layered structure of the red flower

The rose flower has been built from many carefully arranged red elements that create a characteristic, layered petal layout. The use of bricks in varied shapes helps recreate the three-dimensional form of a fully opened flower and gives the whole construction a distinctive look. The glossy surface of the elements reflects light, highlighting the successive layers of petals and the geometric character of the model. As a result, the rose also looks attractive as a standalone ornament placed on a shelf, desk or chest of drawers.

A symbolic gift to assemble yourself

A red rose is commonly associated with love, closeness and romantic feelings, so the set can be an interesting gift idea for someone special. Instead of a ready-made decoration, the recipient gets a project that they can first build themselves and then use as an ornament. Such a gift will work well for birthdays, anniversaries, Valentine's Day or as a small gesture without any special occasion. The model can also be used as part of a larger gift arrangement.

Adjustable stem and leaves

The model has a green stem and leaves whose position can be adjusted to suit the chosen arrangement. The ability to change their placement helps give the rose a more natural line and allows the construction to be matched to the shape of the vase or display location. The finished flower measures approximately 24.2 cm in height, making it clearly visible while still taking up little space. The rose can be placed upright, tilted slightly or combined with other plant models.

131 pieces for creative building

The set consists of 131 pieces which, when assembled, form a single red rose with a stem and leaves. The building process lets you watch a three-dimensional decorative model gradually take shape from small parts. The included instructions help you through the successive stages of construction, making the build organised and accessible. Once completed, the rose can be displayed on a plinth, in a vase or among other decorations, while also reminding you of the satisfaction of assembling the model yourself.
