Full product description

MOULD KING 24117 - three plant decorations made of bricks

MOULD KING 24117 MINI POTTED PLANTS BUILDING SET is a set consisting of 240 pieces, from which three different plants in decorative pots can be built. The collection combines a miniature bonsai tree, an arrangement of white flowers and a multicoloured plant with decorative petals. Each model stands out with a different shape, colour scheme and character, making the whole set an interesting decoration for a shelf, chest of drawers or desk. The small constructions allow you to bring a plant accent into the interior without the need for watering or care.

Miniature bonsai with a spreading crown

The first model in the set is a small bonsai tree placed in a red, geometric pot. The brown trunk and numerous green elements create a spreading crown that catches the eye despite the compact size of the construction. The layered base emphasises the decorative character of the model and makes it look good as a standalone ornament. Building the irregular branches and leaves adds variety to the assembly, and the finished tree can become an interesting addition to a home relaxation corner.

White flowers in a yellow pot

The second composition presents three white flowers set on slender green stems. The light petals have been paired with yellow centres, making the construction look light and distinctive. The round yellow pot has been decorated with a delicate plant motif, which complements the appearance of the whole model. The different heights of the stems give the bouquet a three-dimensional form and help create an attractive decoration for a windowsill, shelf or workspace.

Multicoloured composition full of detail

The third model uses intense shades of red, orange, purple and green, creating an eye-catching plant arrangement. Numerous petals and small elements arranged around the central stem give the construction a rich, layered form. The brown pot with a decorative pattern works well with the vivid flower colours and draws attention to the upper part of the model. This is an option for people who like decorations with a more dynamic look and enjoy displaying colourful brick-built constructions.

A plant accent for a desk or shelf

The small dimensions of the models make them easy to place in areas where larger decorations would take up too much space. The plants can be arranged next to books, office supplies, photo frames or other collectible constructions. Each model can be displayed separately, but placing all three together creates a cohesive, colourful collection. The set also helps vary the room décor without overwhelming the other elements of the arrangement.

Building combined with interior decorating

Assembling three different plants allows you to gradually discover various techniques for connecting small elements. The constructions use both simple stems and branched crowns, layered petals and pots of different shapes. As a result, the building process remains varied from start to finish. Once assembled, the models do not need to be put back in the box – they can immediately serve as decorations for the living room, bedroom, study or children's room.

A compact collection of three different models

The finished constructions reach a maximum height of around 10.8 cm, so it is easy to find a place for them even on a small shelf. The varied pots and colours mean that each plant retains its own character while still matching the other models in the set. The collection can be an interesting choice for lovers of plants, building and small brick-made decorations. MOULD KING 24117 combines relaxing assembly with the opportunity to create an ornament that can be freely moved around and combined with other décor elements.
