Full product description

Active fun every day

The multifunctional 4-in-1 ladybird is an interactive toy that encourages children to move, jump, aim and enjoy healthy competition. The colourful ladybird-shaped base, rotating arms and remote control make the game quickly catch a child's attention. It is an option for little ones from 3 years of age, suitable for a child's room and a larger play area.

Basketball throw

One of the play modes is aiming beanbags into the colourful baskets. This activity helps practise accuracy, hand-eye coordination and concentration. Moving elements add more excitement to the game, and the baskets in different colours make it possible to create simple competitions and point-based games for children playing together.

Rocket launcher with pump

The set also allows for dynamic play with foam rockets. Simply press the foot pump to launch the rocket into the air. This mode helps the child better understand the relationship between movement and effect and provides lots of joy during active play. Soft rockets and simple operation make the set well suited to the youngest users.

Rich set of accessories

The set includes a ladybird-shaped base, rotating arms, 4 baskets, 12 colourful rings, 2 foam rockets, a launcher pump, a remote control and assembly parts. Such a set allows several forms of play in one product: jumping over the arms, target throwing, rocket play and aiming into the baskets.

Fun without boredom

The 4-in-1 ladybird also offers throwing colourful rings onto the protruding arms, which helps practise patience, reflexes and accuracy. The different play modes mean children can change the rules, create their own competitions and play alone or in a group of up to 3 people. The product is intended for children from 3 years of age and has CE and EN 71 markings.
