Full product description

Gentle and effective cleaning

RANVOO PH3 AirJet Teenager has been designed with teenagers' daily oral hygiene in mind. AirJet 4.0 technology, combined with soft, antibacterial fluoride-infused bristles, helps remove food debris and keeps even hard-to-reach interdental spaces clean. The mini round head makes thorough brushing easier and helps protect growing permanent teeth from tooth decay.

Comfortable shape for a teenager

The ergonomic handle fits well in the hand, making it easier to control movements while brushing. This design supports confident everyday use and makes brushing more comfortable. The magnetic wall mount allows the toothbrush to be stored in a dry and tidy place, helping maintain hygiene and making it easy to reach for the device every day.

Technology supporting hygiene

The head design uses an advanced mechanism that helps thoroughly clean interdental spaces. Bubble cleaning reaches places where traditional brushing can be less effective, making it easier to care for areas particularly prone to plaque build-up. This solution fits well with the needs of teenagers whose permanent teeth require regular and careful care.

Gum protection and wear control

The 12° micro-movement system helps gently care for the gums while supporting effective tooth cleaning. The tip has been designed to work softly and ensure comfort for young users. An additional convenience is the bristles, which gradually change colour from blue to transparent over about 2 months, reminding you when it is time to replace the head.

Hygienic charging and everyday convenience

The toothbrush is made from materials that are safe for health and suitable for everyday use. Low-vibration technology helps protect enamel and tooth roots, while magnetic wall charging allows the device to be stored conveniently away from moisture. As a result, the toothbrush stays dry, ready to use and easy to keep clean.
