Information:

The massage chair with Zero Gravity function provides deep relaxation and a comfortable body position thanks to the adjustable recline and telescopic footrest. It offers massage for the neck, back and waist, 18 air cushions, foot massage rollers and seat vibrations, effectively helping to relax the whole body. Additional back heating improves comfort, and the touch panel makes operation easy. Built-in Bluetooth lets you listen to music during the massage, while the blue lighting creates a pleasant relaxing atmosphere.

Full product description

Relaxation in Zero Gravity position

The Zero Gravity design allows the chair to recline and adjust the massage angle to the preferred resting position. The correct body position helps distribute pressure evenly across the backrest and seat, promoting relaxation during the session. The telescopic leg rest lets you adjust the length of support to the user's height.

Neck and back massage

The kneading mechanism covers the neck, back and waist area, helping to loosen parts of the body exposed to tension after work, travel or exertion. The massage movements can be combined with adjustment of the chair angle to choose a comfortable position for the selected area. The available modes allow you to change the character of the session depending on your needs.

18 air cushions

The air massage system uses 18 cushions distributed throughout the body. Alternating inflation and deflation of the cushions gently compresses individual areas, supporting a feeling of relaxation. The function complements the kneading and roller massage, creating an extensive session without the need to manually change position.

Foot massage rollers

Built-in rollers massage the soles of the feet while you rest in the chair. The seat also offers a vibrating massage for the buttocks, adding gentle vibrations to the session. The combination of both functions allows the lower body to be massaged and works well during a short break as well as longer relaxation.

Pleasant warmth for the back

The back heating function provides pleasant warmth, which can support the relaxation of tense muscles. The heating complements the action of the massage mechanism and helps create comfortable conditions for rest after exertion or an intense day.

Touch panel and Bluetooth

The large touch panel allows you to conveniently select programmes and activate individual massage functions from one place. The built-in Bluetooth module lets you play music from a compatible phone or other device, so your session can be accompanied by your favourite soundtrack.

Lighting and adjustable footrest

The blue Breathing Light illumination placed on the sides of the armrests creates a calm setting during the massage. The telescopically adjustable leg section helps adapt the support to the user's height, increasing comfort when positioning the body while using the chair.
