Information:

Momcozy EP001 Grey is a contoured knee pillow designed for side sleepers. It helps position the legs, hips and knees comfortably, reducing pressure between the knees and supporting a more natural sleeping position. The adjustable strap keeps the pillow in place, even when changing position during the night, and the removable cover makes everyday use easier. Its compact shape works well not only in bed, but also when resting on the sofa. It is a practical support for people looking for greater sleeping comfort, including pregnant women.

Full product description

Ergonomic support while sleeping

The grey version of the Momcozy EP001 is a contoured knee pillow designed for side sleepers. Its shape helps position the legs, hips and knees comfortably during the night. The pillow is equipped with an adjustable strap, a removable cover and a body-contoured design, making it well suited to everyday use.

Comfort in different situations

The pillow can be used not only while sleeping, but also when resting in bed or relaxing on the sofa. Placing it between the legs helps reduce the pressure of the knees against each other and supports a more comfortable body position. Thanks to its compact form, the product is easy to use in various home settings.

Stable positioning between the knees

The contoured shape of the pillow has been designed for placing it between the knees when sleeping on your side. The elastic strap helps keep it in place even when the user changes position during sleep. This solution makes it easier to maintain comfortable support throughout the night.

Adjustable strap for a better fit

One of the practical features of the EP001 model is the adjustable strap, which allows the pillow to fit the leg better. It helps reduce the pillow shifting during rest and keeps it more securely in place. This makes using the pillow more comfortable and intuitive.

Help for a more comfortable sleeping position

When sleeping on your side, proper leg support can contribute to a more natural position of the hips and spine. A pillow between the knees helps keep the legs in a better position and reduces pressure between them. This solution may contribute to greater comfort during the night.

A practical choice for everyday use

The Momcozy EP001 Grey combines functionality with a subdued colour scheme that fits easily into a bedroom or living room interior. The product can be used every day by people looking for simple support while sleeping and resting. The included packaging also makes it easy to store or give the pillow as a practical gift.

The product is a proposition for:
