Automatic and manual modes - the control you need

Powerlink offers two modes of operation: automatic (self-leveling) and manual. In automatic mode, the leveler corrects small deviations of the terrain by itself, which increases speed and comfort of use. Manual mode, on the other hand, allows you to set the lines at the desired angle - useful, for example, when installing stairs or decorative structures. This flexibility makes the device suitable for both precise construction tasks and creative DIY projects. Thanks to the remote control, you can change settings without having to approach the device, making it even more convenient.

Resistance to working conditions - PRO class durability

The Powerlink laser level is designed for harsh conditions on the construction site. Its waterproof and dustproof housing ensures reliability even in dust, humidity or when working outdoors. It's a tool that can handle where others fail - without risk of damage or failure. The robust design protects internal components from shocks and scratches, resulting in a long product life. Regardless of the weather or where you work, the Powerlink level maintains full functionality and precision.
