Information:

The inhaler provides comfortable inhalation at home, quickly atomising the liquid into a fine mist that makes it easier to deliver the preparation to the airways. The system creates an even stream of particles of a similar size, which supports effective distribution of the preparation throughout the entire session. The device automatically switches off after 3 minutes of operation, helping to save energy and extend battery life.

Full product description

Comfortable inhalation

The inhaler quickly atomises the liquid, turning it into fine mist particles. This enables comfortable delivery of the preparation to the respiratory tract during home inhalation.

Even atomisation

The system produces a mist made up of particles of a similar size. Even atomisation of the preparation supports its distribution in the respiratory tract throughout the entire inhalation session.

Switching off after 3 minutes

After three minutes of operation, the inhaler automatically switches off the power. This function helps reduce unnecessary energy consumption and contributes to more economical use of the battery.
