Full product description

Extralink ice maker

Extralink ice maker is a practical device for preparing ice at home, in the office, in the kitchen, at a home bar or during gatherings with family and friends. It allows you to quickly top up drinks with ice cubes without the need to use traditional trays. The transparent lid lets you conveniently observe the device in operation and the amount of ice ready.

Ice at hand

The device is ideal for the everyday preparation of cold drinks, lemonade, cocktails or mixed drinks. The ice maker helps you quickly prepare a portion of ice whenever it is needed, which is especially useful on warmer days, at parties and during gatherings around the table.

Convenient operation

The countertop design means the device can be placed in the kitchen, dining room, kitchenette or relaxation area. Side ventilation openings support proper operation, and the transparent top makes it easier to monitor the ice-making process. The simple form blends well with everyday interior furnishings.

For gatherings and drinks

The Extralink ice machine is useful during family gatherings, home parties and the everyday serving of chilled drinks. It helps prepare ice for water, juices, lemonade, iced coffee and cocktails, ensuring greater convenience when serving guests.
