Full product description

Yesoul M2EV silent exercise bike

The Yesoul M2EV exercise bike is an excellent choice for those who value safety, comfort and technology. Its built-in design makes it safe for families with children and pets. Equipped with a quiet magnetic resistance system and belt drive, it offers a smooth and enjoyable ride. With Bluetooth and a dedicated app, you can track your progress and enjoy professional training courses. With its customizable and ergonomic design, the Yesoul M2EV is the perfect companion for workouts at home.

Well thought-out design

The Yesoul M2EV bike has a sturdy frame, capable of supporting a user's weight of up to 100 kg. In addition, the pedals are equipped with non-slip pads, which eliminates the risk of slipping your foot even with heavy loads and top speed. Thanks to the built-in adjustment system, you can adjust the load according to the recommendations of your training program and your own abilities.

Quiet and smooth operation

The Yesoul M2EV bike has an advanced belt and smooth belt transmission system, which guarantees extremely quiet operation without unnecessary noise during braking.

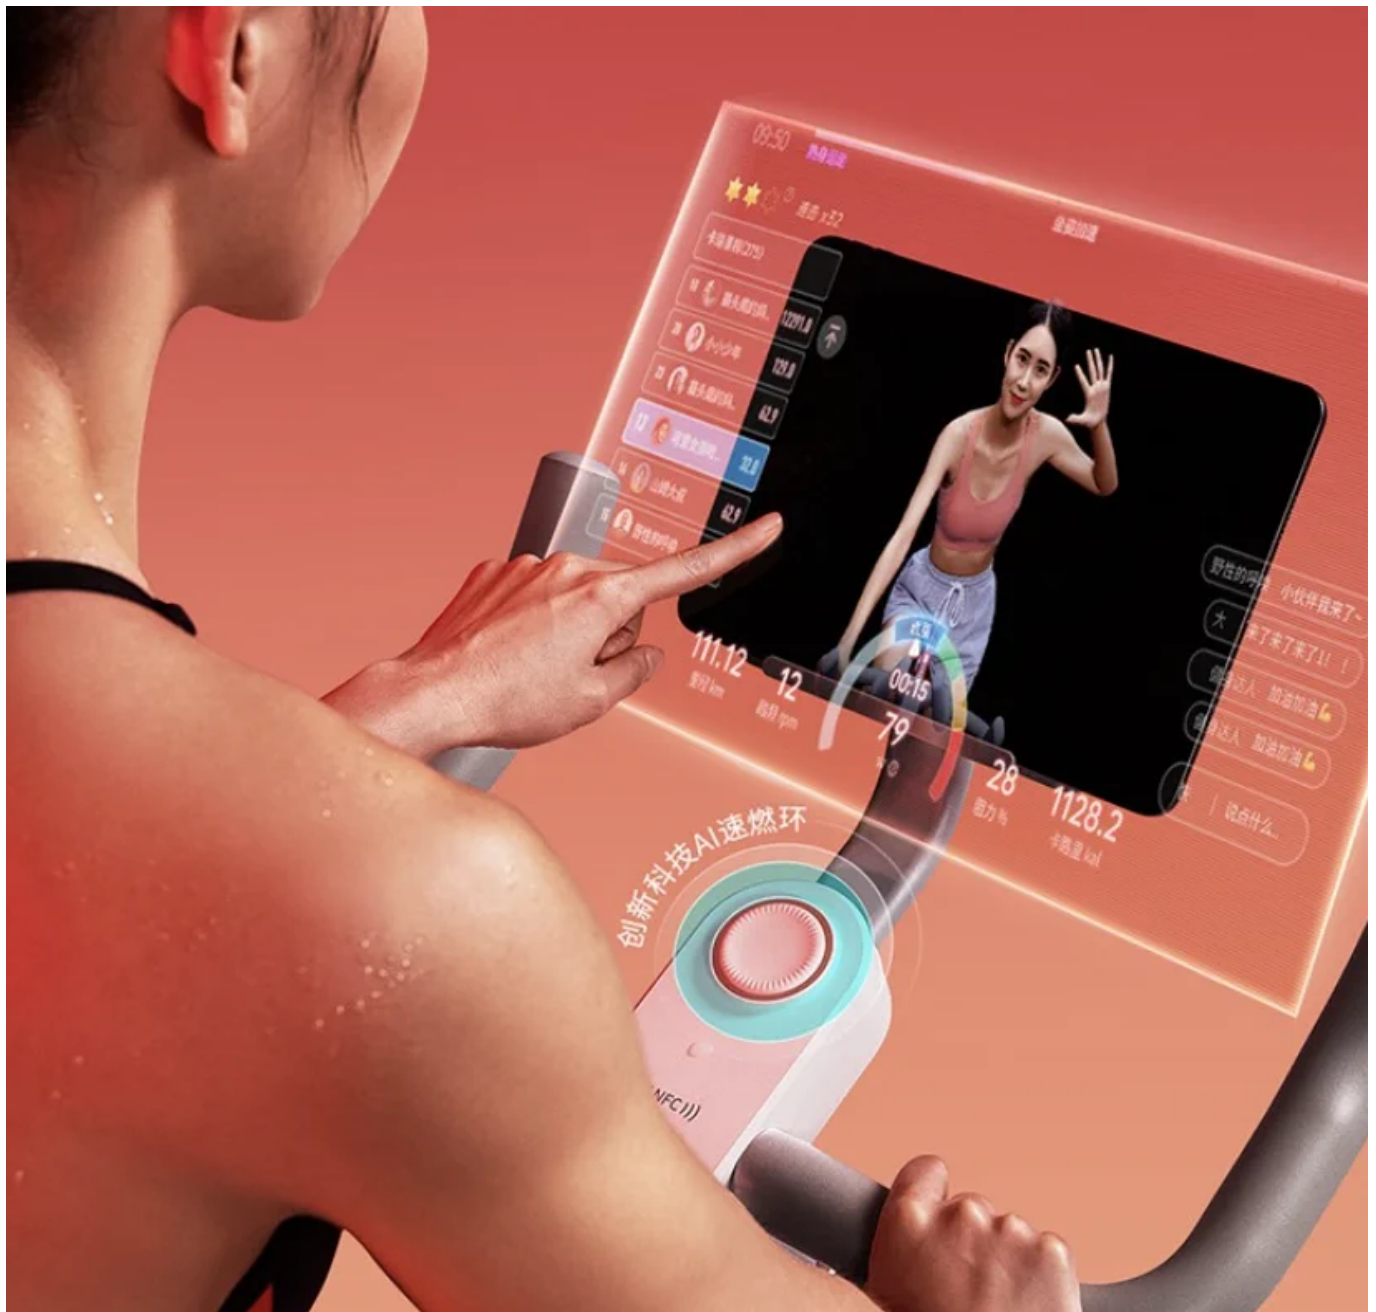

High level of comfort

The soft seat is so flexible that it does not generate excessive pressure on the buttocks and spine, ensuring a secure and comfortable fit while riding the Yesoul M2EV. The handlebars, seat and resistance are adjustable, ensuring a high level of ergonomics.

Intelligent control via app

The Yesoul app offers support for numerous smart features, providing new exercise sets and effective calorie-burning strategies every day (featuring as many as 2,000 different exercises). Workout progress is visually displayed on the screen, allowing users to easily monitor their workout regimen and adjust it as needed.

Without power cord

The Yesoul M2EV bike is equipped with a generator that produces energy as you ride the bike, meaning that it powers itself as you pedal. As a result, it doesn't need to be connected to an outlet or cable, allowing it to be placed in any room regardless of access to a power source.
