Full product description

Xiaomi 70mai Dash Cam Lite D08

Car cameras are increasingly becoming an indispensable gadget for all drivers. They not only allow you to record your surroundings, but also significantly increase comfort on the road. The new Xiaomi 70mai Dash Cam Lite D08 video recorder is equipped with Sony IMOX307 sensor, which is perfect for recording video in low light.

Full HD Video

It records video in 1080P Full HD format. A wide 130-degree viewing angle captures the entire road surface and roadside, giving you full control of the traffic situation.

24-hour protection

With a built-in G-sensor, the DVR will automatically start recording if a collision is detected, even if you are not in the car. When you return, the camera will notify you of the recording and ask you to play it back.

Application control

The 70mai app supports iOS and Android, which allows you to watch and download HD videos over Wi-Fi. Install the functional 70mai app to fully control the DVR and enjoy all of its features and capabilities.

WDR technology

WDR technology passes even more light into the sensor to improve recording quality and produce the most detailed, clear and vivid images.

A laconic design

The 70mai Dash Cam Lite is housed in a compact casing. With its compact size and convenient mounting, the DVR can be easily placed behind the mirror without obstructing the driver's view.

Loop recording

Loop recording allows you not to worry about the availability of free space on the memory card. Old, unnecessary videos are gradually replaced with new footage, which can be useful as evidence in case of a contentious situation.
