Full product description

If you dream of recording your adventures in amazing video quality, the Akaso EK7000 sports camera is for you!

This device is designed for active users who need durable and versatile equipment. Whether you're diving, biking or playing other sports, the Akaso EK7000 won't disappoint your expectations.

Top quality in a compact package

The Akaso EK7000 sports camera offers video quality in 4K resolution, giving you that sharp, detailed shot that will delight everyone. The 170° lens will give you a wide field of view, so you won't miss any important moment. The camera is equipped with a high-quality S01 K04 sensor, which guarantees exceptional image quality, even in lower light conditions. Thanks to this technology, the device captures video in 4K, making it an ideal choice.

Thoughtful design for the most demanding

One of the Akaso EK7000 camera's greatest strengths is its durable housing. The case is not only waterproof, but also impact-resistant, making it the perfect accessory for anyone who needs a camera that is durable and reliable. In addition, with the case, you can safely store the device during transport and even dive with it.

Wide range of available modes

The Akaso EK7000 camcorder offers a variety of recording modes to meet users' specific requirements and circumstances. Want to record a timelapse? Nothing easier! The device allows recording in a variety of modes, including looping, motion detection, and car mode, making it extremely versatile. In addition, the camera is compatible with the Akaso app, allowing remote control and quick sharing of recorded footage.
