Simple Rules, Infinite Possibilities - Learn the Mechanics of the Game

The rules of Magnetic Stones are easy to learn, but offer surprising strategic depth. Start the game by laying out a rope that delineates a game area of any shape. Then divide the stones equally among the players. In your turn, take turns placing stones inside the designated area. The key element is magnetism! If, after adding your stone, other stones on the board stick together, you must take them away! You take all the glued stones, even if not all of them have merged with your stone. After collecting the glued stones, your turn ends and you cannot add any more stones. The player who gets rid of all his stones first wins! Subsequent players continue the game, competing for more places.
