Information:

The Black Forest frame bucket swing is a safe play space for young children under adult supervision. The open design makes it easy to keep an eye on the child and swing together, while the bucket seat with a high backrest, side guards, front restraint and straps helps keep the child in a stable position. The freestanding, colourful frame can be set up in the garden or on the lawn, and the compact dimensions of 116 x 140 x 123 cm also make it suitable for smaller spaces. The swing supports the development of balance and coordination and encourages outdoor activity.

Full product description

Shared play under adult supervision

The Black Forest frame-mounted bucket swing creates a home play area designed for young children. The open design makes it easier for the caregiver to stay close to the child, control the seat's movement, and spend time together outdoors.

Bucket seat tailored to little ones

The green bucket seat has a raised backrest, side guards and a front safety bar. This design helps the child maintain the correct position while swinging, and the straps reduce the risk of accidentally slipping out of the seat.

Colourful garden structure

The combination of navy, yellow and green elements means the swing fits well into a home play area. The freestanding frame allows the product to be placed on a lawn, in a garden or on a suitably prepared recreational area, among other places.

Compact frame dimensions

The swing measures 116 × 140 × 123 cm, so it can also be set up in a smaller garden. The frame's splayed legs create a wide base, helping to keep the structure properly positioned during use.

Easy access to the child

The seat is positioned at a height that allows the caregiver to comfortably seat the child, fasten the straps and begin gentle swinging. Before each use, check that the components are securely attached and use the product only under adult supervision.

Activity and joy outdoors

Swinging adds variety to everyday play and helps the child develop a sense of balance and motor coordination. The Black Forest swing encourages time spent outdoors and lets children share joyful moments with parents or caregivers.
